ZACATECAS IS REPORTED IN THE HANDS OF THE REBELS

Washington, June 24.—Reports reached the State Department from agents in Tampico that the rebels under General Villa have captured Zacatecas, and General Zapata is ready to attack Mexico City from the south on receipt of word from Villa.

A large part of the ammunition landed for Huerta by the Steamer Ypiranga was captured by the rebels, operating from Tuxpam. Authenticity of report is questioned.

PRESIDENT WILSON HEARS DIRECT FROM HUERTA

Washingotn, June 24.—Reports are current at the White House that the President has received a message direct from Huerta requesting mediation be expedited. No information on the message could be had but the reports created much interest.

MRS. STEVENSON'S GRAVE

Los Angeles Dispatch in the New York Herald.

In the fulfillment of her last wish the ashes of Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson will repose beside the body of her husband on the summit of Mt. Vaca, Samoa. This was made public here today on the authority of Mrs. Isobel Strong, a daughter of Mrs. Stevenson. Before the door of the tomb will be inscribed the last stanza of Stevenson's verse to his wife:

"Teacher, tender comrade, wife,
Fellow farer, true through life,
Heart whole and soul free
The august Father gave to me."

To this tomb there will be no means of access except a rough mountain path. When the will of Mrs. Stevenson, who died in Santa Barbara several months ago, is settled, her children, Mrs. Strong and Lloyd Osbourne, will take her ashes to Samao. The ashes are now in San Francisco.

Miss Marie Bridewell, of Beaumont, Texas, is the attractive guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Roland, south St. Andrews street. They also have with them their daughter, Miss Elsie Mae Roland, a recent graduate of the Convent of the Visitation at Mobile.

A. D. Ussery is confined to his home on East LaFayette Street today from a slight attack of sickness.

JONES HAS SMALL CONNECTION WITH TRUST

Washington, June 24.—The White House today issued a letter from Former Assistant Attorney General Grosvener declaring Thomas Jones, recently appointed a member of the Federal Reserve Board, only has a remote connection with the Harvester trust. The letter was issued in reply to criticism of the appointee.

GLOBE SIGHTS

From the Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

How long does a bride remain a bride?

No man is as clever as he thinks he is when drunk.

Don't worry about the average problem, and it's solved.

Awkward people blame every accident on some one else.

Comparatively few families produce more than one big leaguer.

This year it is hard to support a family and a candidate, too.

It is easy to protrude the chest while talking over the phone.

It probably is true that the extent of your knowledge is limited.

A farmer who has a small house and a big barn is not henpecked.

No man approves of his son-in-law and supports him at the same time.

Those who overworry are more numerous than those who overwork.

If there is a skeleton in the closet, the tendency is to keep the door open.

The average lawyer has to waste a lot of oratory in order to keep in practice.

If you are going to judge a newspaper by the mistakes it makes, good night.

When a man is poor in his old age people say: "He had an expensive family."

Then there are chicken fanciers who don't want their wives to find out about it.

A farmer who grumbles a lot about taxes usually does a poor job of cultivating corn.

You may not realize it, but when you are riding your hobby you are on a slow nag.

The motion must be seconded, but don't make that form of endeavor your life work.

There is this difference between ball players and actors: The ball players must get their hits.

The musical contingent of Dothan, enjoyed a rare musical treat last night, at chautauqua, the attraction being the Gamble Concert Company.

While every number, vocal or instrumental, was enjoyed, the violin numbers by Miss Page were so thorough as to tonal accuracy and smooth technique, that she carried the audience with her and elicited encore after encore—they would not be satisfied.

Especially was she proficient as to the singing quality of her notes, and not once did she make a faux paux, even in the piano double stop and harmonic passages.

The smooth tonal quality of her violin contributed not a little to the almost hypnotic effect on her audience. The people of Dothan will gladly welcome her again.

TORNADO SWEEPS MINNESOTA AND WISCONSIN: 5 DEAD

Chicago, June 24.—Five known dead, eight fatally injured and an hundred or more hurt as a result of a tornado which swept Minnesota and Wisconsin this morning.

Sparta, Wisconsin, a town of seven thousand inhabitants, was half wiped out, and other towns badly damaged. It is feared the death list will grow when communication is restored.

WANTED, AN AMERICAN MINISTER OF MARINE.

From the June Atlantic.

Taking into consideration America's great maritime wealth and her natural fitness to fill the roll of a great maritime power, one is inclined to believe that if, instead of remaining satisfied with her present spirit of Oriental fatalism which manacles her to the marine laws of 1792, she were to follow Canada's lead and appoint a minister of marine, much valuable legislation would ensue.

A country so rich in seaports, coast line, and rivers, a country which controls the Panama Canal, has no right to be subjected to the unguided whims and idiosyncracies of the legislative branch of a government composed for the most part of men wholly ignorant of the sea. Its case is a special case calling for special legislation, and this can be best secured by the appointment of a minister of marine. No cow-puncher, soldier, lawyer or parson—no matter what his official position in the government may be—is capable of knowing how to set about forcing the American shipping industry into its rightful place. The case is one for a group of specialists formed into an administrative body piloted by a minister of marine.

No nation can be truly great without an efficient navy, and no navy can be efficient without a merchant marine to support it in time of war.

MRS. L. M. BASHINSKY HOSTESS

On Monday an event of rare pleasure was vouchsafed some of the officers and members of the Troy Chapter U. D. C., when Mrs. L. M. Bashinsky, president of the Alabama division U. D. C., entertained at a dinner in honor of her distinguished house guest, Mrs. LaSalle Corbell Pickett, widow of the brave and renowned Confederate soldier of Gettysburg fame, General George E. Pickett, says the Troy Messenger.

The interior of the beautiful colonial residence, "Burbash," was fragrant and bright and attractive with flowers and plants. Shasta daisies were the predominating note of decoration of the handsome old English dining room. When gathered around the hospitable board, the guests enjoyed a feast and a "flow of the soul."

Later, Mrs. Pickett, who is noted as a platform lecturer, and a gifted authoress, gave to the guests a very special honor in that she read to her charmed and appreciative hearers a manuscript not yet given to the public, but destined ere long to appear in a well-known publication.

TODAY IS GLOOMY FOR MEDIATION

Niagara Falls, June 24.—Announcement of Carranza's agents at New Orleans that the Constitutionalists will treat with Huerta only on the battlefield left mediation in confusion and almost despair today. The cheerfulness of yesterday is replaced by gloom. Naon's plan of letting Huerta and Carranza settle difficulties among themselves is in grave jeopardy.

The only ray of hope is the fact that the Huerta delegates are willing to admit the Carranzaists to conference without armistice. The A. B. C. mediators have thus far held out for armistice, but may be forced to give in.

In a desperate effort to prevent the collapse of peace efforts, mediators, Mexicans and Americans will hold a full conference this afternoon.

NEW OIL-BEARING NUT IN PHILIPPINES

From a Consular Report.

The Philippine Bureau of science is investigating a newly discovered oil-bearing seed found abundantly on the Island of Catanduanes. It grows on a large tree and comes from a brown pear-shaped fruit that opens not unlike a cotton boll when ripe and emits the seeds. The seeds are rough of surface and of a dark brownish color, about the size of a large dried prune and slightly kidney-shaped. The tree has not yet been fully identified, but it is thought to belong to the genus Amoora or Dysoxylum. Seeds belonging to other plants of that family are known to bear oil at least of commercial value. The oil from the nuts under discussion has been tried in the manufacture of soap and has been found to make a good commercial grade. The nuts or seed bears about 45 per cent. of oil, dark and fatty. This oil does not dry well and is therefore not serviceable for paints and varnishes. It is not edible, having a bitter taste. A complete analysis of the oil has not yet been completed.

Tradition shows that before the advent of petroleum the inhabitants of the Catanduanes Island used the oil from this seed as a luminant. Since the importation of coal oil the local oil has fallen into disuse and with no demand for it none is now expressed. In every part of the island old implements with which it was formerly manufactured for domestic use are to be found among the people. The method was to grind the seeds to a fine consistency in crude hand mills of stone or to grate it on rough surfaces. The resulting grindings or gratings were cooked and then put in a fibrous sack and subjected to pressure.

In view of the increased use of the oil of the cocoanut in the manufacture of edibles considerable interest is being taken in the new oil in the hope that it may be substituted for cocoanut oil in the manufacture of soap and for similar uses. The abundance of the seed from which it is expressed promises a valuable industry for the islands in case the further experiments with the oil bear out those already made.

PRESIDENT WILSON COMMUTES SENTENCE OF 4 DYNAMITERS

Washington, June 24.—The president today commuted the sentence of four of the Indianapolis dynamiters. The names are withheld pending a conference with Attorney General McReynolds.

The men whose sentences were commuted to expire immediately are Michael Hannan, Frank Painter, Fred Mooney and William Shupe. The sentence of John Barry and Paul Morris will be considered later. The other eighteen dynamiters must serve sentences.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Mobley of Haleburg, who have been spending some time at Panama City, are here today on their way home.

Chester R. Vickery went to Montgomery today.

S. F. Wilkes left today for a few days visit to the Capitol City.

Reese and H. G. Ennis ae spending the day in Montgomery.

Miss Maude Scott and little Miss Willie Pearl Gammell are visiting friends and relatives in Montgomery.

Mr. J. R. Crawford has returned from a several days stay at Hot Springs, Ark. He seems to be greatly improved in health and spirits.

LUKE M'LUKE SAYS

Fro mthe Cincinnati Enquirer.

A fool man usually waits until the other fellow gets through before he starts to talk. But when two women get to gabbing both talk at the same time, and each tries to keep a few sentences ahead of the other.

Why is it that a girl can look so dainty when she is dressed in white and a man always looks like he was peddling something when he tried to wear it?

A good husband isn't always the man who is afraid of his wife. He isn't the man who can afford to give his wife all her heart desires that money will buy. He isn't the man who makes a big fuss over his wife in public. A good husband is a man who feels like a dog after he has quarreled with his wife and who feels like a low-down snake every time he lies to her and she believes him.

The suffs have cut the "obey" out of the marriage contract. It won't be long until the brides will enter the bonds of Hywomen instead of Hymen.

You can't get anything in this world without suffering for it. To be popular you have to laugh at the jokes other people tell.

One reason why platonic love is always a bloomer is because when a man and a woman get together the woman says things she doesn't mean and the man means things he doesn't say.

The only time a girl ever gets tired when she goes to a ball is when nobody asks her to dance and she has to sit down.

It is hard to get the first kiss, but the rest comes without asking.

ROOSEVELT TO ATTACK POLICIES OF PRES. WOODROW WILSON

On Board Steamer Imperator, June 24.—Roosevelt today completed the rough draft of the speech he will deliver at Pittsburg, June 30. He will flay Wilson for his domestic and foreign policies, particularly in regard to the pending Colombian treaty which offers an apology for the Colonel's conduct in regard to the Panama revolution.

Roosevelt is ready to enter politics with a whoop, as his throat is nearly well. The Imperator reaches Quarantine at six o'clock this afternoon.

MYSTERIOUS TRAGEDY AT STAMFORD, CONN.

Samford, Conn., June 24.—A mysterious tragedy involving two prominent families occurred early this morning when Alderman Waldo B. Ballou, one of the best known men in the city, was found dead with his head crushed in, at the entrance of the fashionable Ripawam apartment.

Small bloody barefoot tracks led up to the apartment of Mrs. Helen Angle, a wealthy divorcee, on the second floor. Ballou's hat and blood covered garments were found in a closet. The woman was held without bail. She denies killing, but admits Ballou visited her during the night.

ELECTRICITY FORCES PLANTS

From the Boston Transcript.

Of tremendous importance to mankind, in view of the rapidly decreasing food supply of the world, was the announcement of the result of experiments made during the past year in increasing vegetable growth electrically.

T. C. Martin, in presenting the report of the committee on progress announced that vegetable growth has been increased 75 per cent over normal by the use of electricity at night. It is by such experiments that the men of electrical science are striving to solve ahead of time what will eventually be the greatest problem the race must face—the shortage of the food supply. Plots have been sown with radishes and lettuce seed. Portions of the plots have been excited by high frequently currents. The vegetables in the plots so affected showed a 75 per cent increase in yield over the plots left to the ordinary ministration of the sun and rain.

Miss Bostwick of Arlington, Ga., and Miss Beans, of Atlanta, who have been the house guests of Miss Lutrelle McLennan for the past week, leave for their respective home Thursday. Miss McLennan will accompany them for a few days in Arlington, then she will go on to Tifton, Ga., for an extended visit.

HELP THAT'S WORTH WHILE.

In Prentiss, Mississippi, there is a big firm of general merchants S. S. Dale & Sons. This firm is trying to get the farmers to diversify and a striking example of the work the house is doing appears in the Prentiss Headlight. Messrs. Dale buy space in the paper and thus advise their farmer friends:

"The Irish potato crop has been cut short by drouth, but the price has held up reasonably well. No great amount has been made out of Irish potatoes directly, but the crop to follow them can be made to produce a splendid profit if part is planted in corn and the rest in yellow yams. We do not think anyone will make big money out of sweet potatoes, but we are pretty sure that every farmer who will put out a few acres of "Old Yellow Yams" will be well paid. We are now working, getting the very best markets and will be in position to handle all yellow yams brought us and pay highest market price in cash for them.

"It seems from present conditions the boll weevil will do as much damage, if not more, to the cotton crop than ever before. For this reason we are advising all our customers and friends to put out few acres in yellow yams. They will bring you money.

"With best wishes for plenty and prosperity."

In every community there are leading merchants who possess the confidence of the farmers. If these prominent business men would take the trouble to help the farmers as Messrs. Dale are doing, the farmers would prosper. We venture the assertion that the merchants would lose nothing by it. Ordinarily the large merchants of small communities do not think it incumbent upon them to help the farmer find a market for other products than cotton. They make a mistake in such attitude. Messrs Dale and Sons have the proper conception of the co-operation that should exist in the community between the merchant and the producer from the soil. Mutual effort creates general prosperity.—Mobile Register.

ENFORCING THE LAW.

The law is enforced in Georgia. A man was convicted the other day at Americus for running a lewd house, and a fine of $1000 or twelve months on the chaingang was imposed upon him. He decided he would try it with the chaingang boys, whereupon he joined them and went to work, but did not work but five days when he came up and wanted to pay the fine. The court allowed him to pay the fine with the understanding that he was to leave the State and never return.

A little of such law enforcement in Dothan would rid the town of mighty ugly things and at the same time rid us of the stigma of fostering "necessary (?) evils."

THE CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS.

Age-Herald.

It can hardly be expected that the Democratic majority in the Sixty-fourth congress will be as large as it is in the present Congress. Of the total 435 members of the House the Democrats have about 290, which is abnormal. They can afford to lose a good many districts in the elections next November and still have a decisive majority.

If the republicans were united there would be danger, of course, that the Democrats would lose the House: but Progressives and "straightouts" are as far apart in many districts as they were in 1912. There is a lack of enthusiasm in both progressive and republican ranks, and if the progressive leader, Colonel Roosevelt, holds to his purpose of keeping out of this year's campaign little excitement may be expected.

Since the civil war mid-administration congressional elections have been significant as forecasting the result of the ensuing presidential election. The party that wins two years after inauguration day has been the victorious party at the next general election. All political rules are liable to be reversed, but with the next House democratic the chances will be strongly on the side of the democrats in 1916; and naturally so, for it will be taken as a popular indorsement of democratic policies.

MILLION AND A HALF YEAR OLD FOSSIL.

The heading of this article is to make you read it. You are not supposed to believe any part of the article.

Our press dispatches tell us: "The fossil field at Agate, Neb., is to be searched for specimens of the ancient Moropus, a big clawed ungulate, said to have existed, 1,500,000 years ago by eating artichoke.

"The American Museum of Natural History desires a specimen and is to send a party, headed by Albert Thompson, to look for it. Near Agate valuable specimens have been excavated. It was in this designated region that the Carnegie Museum secured material for the Moropus skeleton, which was mounted in the institution."

All of that was sent over the wires, and hundreds of newspapers paid telegraph tolls for it. All of the newspapers using it know they didn't have one single reader who would believe a line of it, but they printed it, because they know the people will read such junk.

How long have the people been accusing the world of being even 10,000 years old? Can't you remember when most people took the preacher's word for it, and let Bible history settle the matter of the age of the earth?

Not so now. Some time ago, a naturalist, or geologist, or something, said the world was hundreds of thousands of years old. Then another Sunday space writer put it at a million, and now people go up to the earth and look in its mouth, like a horse swapper, and pronounce its age, from a million and a half, to a hundred million years old, and nobody protests.

"Ancient Moropus," is it? What is a modern Moropus?

What are ancient Moropuses good for, when captured, outside of eating artichoke. And why spend all this money unearthing something that has been peaceably sleeping a hundred or so million years before time began? Such a waste of time. People should go to work, doing something for the Moropuses now among us.

CAMPAIGN NOT SO HOT.

This congressional campaign isn't so hot as you might think. Few people are interested. As to the long term, the folks down here think Henry Steagall is entitled to the nomination, and the other candidates are not stirring up thing in this section. As for the short term race, that isn't even to be called a race. Probably not 200 votes will be cast in the county against Oscar Mulkey, and they wouldn't be cast if all the people knew the real truth about this campaign. But the people are too busy, and are too well satisfied as to the final outcome, to get out and start any excitement. On Monday, the folks will go to the polls and vote, if they have time. If they are busy, they will stay at home, and a very light vote will be polled.

ENCOURAGING.

With all the burglary going on in Montgomery from time to time, the Montgomery papers haven't referred to it as a "crime wave," and a vote of thanks should be tendered them.

The papers haven't even said that the "police have a clue." They admit the police have no clue, which is another evidence of improvement.

England has shown the open-mouth travelers its ruins for ages, but in future when wedding couples touring England crawl off the rubber-neck wagons, they will be shown where the ruins were "ruined" by the modern suffragettes.

HOW IS YOUR CLONTY FAIR?

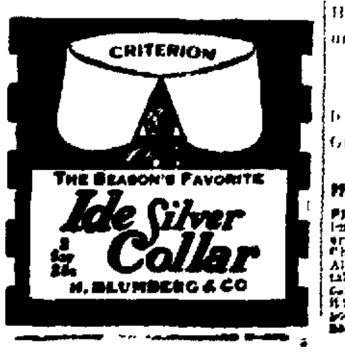
From The Progresive Farmer

Once again we urge the importance of the county fair But why a fair? some one asks Oh, well, why any effort for the good of the county or the State? For though the fairs, both county and State, are for the most part organized as private associations, they generally represent praiseworthy patriotism on the part of the backers and too often their reward is only the privilege of going down into their pockets to meet some deficiency occasioned, in part perhaps, by your failure to make an exhibit or to attend The answer in brief as to why you should have a fair is, for the public good—for giving individuals new ideals and for stimulating community pride

But these fairs are social organizations as well, and so helpful in this respect that it is questionable whether in any other way they serve so large a purpose Bringing together the representatives of every township at some central place like the county seat leads the people to know one another a knowledge as powerful with the community as the 'know thyself' with the individual They are likewise educational The average fair, county or state, has something for the visitor who goes with his eyes open and mind alert

Moreover, our fairs are putting larger stress on these educational features each year The midway the gambling devices and those who play there are on the decrease and the drinking places have gone or are going. This new order of things means much for the larger fairs, but more for the smaller which have suffered from the false impression that special attractions beyond their financial reach were necessary [illegible] their success Numerous most successful county fairs were held last year with their agricultural educational, and livestock exhibits for their sole drawing cards,

If your county isn't in line with the progressive counties with fairs why not you and your neighbor get busy at once? By a little determined effort on the part of all classes you may have a fair yet or at least make a good start in 1914 and do better next year



WHAT DOES IT COST YOU TO CULTIVATE YOUR COTTON?

The letters on cotton cultivation in our issue of May 23 were so timely so practical, and so full of labor saving ideas that we cannot refrain from again calling attention to this subject

Cotton is the great money crop of the South and will probably continue to be for many generations It is a crop almost ideally adapted to our climate produces fairly well under adversities that would mean failure with crops less hardy and recuperative and when the lint only is removed from the land it is one of the least exhaustive crops known This combination of qualities makes of cotton a really wonderful crop and that we may have grown it too expensively and to our own hurt is not its fault but rather that of ourselves and our system or lack of system of farming The truth is that not another crop in the world would have stood the abuse and neglect the cotton crop has had to endure

But even with cotton there is a limit somewhere and that limit has already been reached on hundreds of thousands of Southern farms Census figures show that the average per acre yield of cotton over the entire South is less than 200 pounds of lint It takes no genius to see at the present prices for labor fertilizers land rent and like items that there cannot be a living wage in raising cotton where only the average yield is obtained Right here is one of the South's most serious and pressing problems for it goes without saying we can never have the highest standards of rural living and citizenship while 50 per cent of our farmers are actually receiving only a dollar a day or less for their labor

Methods of cultivation will by no means entirely solve this problem for in producing profitable crops we place rich land above all others as the factor of overwhelming importance However cultivation particularly at this season, is the thought that should be uppermost in our minds Particularly is it important that as much expensive hard labor as possible be dispensed with and the cost of production correspondingly reduced Turn to the letters in our issue of May 23 and appropriate some of the ideas brought out in that experience meeting The Progressive Farmer

A PRETTY GOOD WORLD.

This world's a pretty good sort of world,
Taking it altogether
In spite of the grief and sorrow we meet,
In spite of the gloomy weather,
There are friends to love and hopes to cheer
And plenty of compensations,
For every ache for those who make
The best of the situation.

There are quiet nooks for lovers of books,
With nature in happy union,
There are good cool retreats from the noon-tide heats,
Where souls may have sweet communion;
And if there's a wrong we know ere shines not
There's always a lamp to light it.
And if there's a drong we know ere long,
That Heaven above will right it
[illegible]
So it's not for us to make a fuss
Because of life's sad mischances,
Nor to wear ourselves out to bring about
A change in our circumstances
For this world's a pretty good sort of world,
And He to whom we are debtor
Appoints the place and supplies the grace
To help to make us better

The Tennelle-King Wedding will take place at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride on South Foster street

---

Little Miss Mary Ramage of Brundidge, is in the city visiting her cousin, Miss Mary Ramage.

IN HONOR OF MISS TENNELLE—

The June brides have been the inspiration for many lovely affairs but not one that has been more thoroughly enjoyed than the one given by Miss Leola Faulk Tuesday afternoon honoring Miss Kathleen Tennelle, whose wedding will be the most important event of Thursday.

The reception hall and living room were effectively decorated in white roses and oleander.

Miss Faulk received her guests and invited them to the punch bowl which was graciously presided over by Mrs Alto Faulk

The guests were then presented to the guest of honor and her maid Miss Mary Lou Foote of Ft Gaines Ga

Three tables were arranged for the interesting game of rook. Miss Tennelle was presented a beautiful boudoir cap as a pleasant reminder of this happy occasion.

Miss Faulk, assisted by Mrs I W. Black of Midland City, served a delicious ice course to the following guests, Misses Mary Lou Foote Jennie Mae Ward, Annie R. Jordan, Hallie Jordan, Charlie Crawford, Louise Clendinen, and Mesdames I. W. Black, Ralph Ghent, Charlie Newton, Alto Faulk.

MRS PENNYBACKER IS MUCH IMPROVED—

South Bend, Ind —Mrs Percy V Pennybacker of Austin, Texas, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, who suffered a nervous collapse in Mishawaka recently, is much improved now It is improbable, however, that she will address the convention of the thirteenth district of Indiana federation of women's clubs now in session here, as she had planned.
